CULTURAL PRESENTATION

Rhonda Doxtator

Hoop dancing 7:00 – 7:45 p.m.

The hoop dance originates from the nations of the southwestern United States. Traditionally used as a medicine, with hoops made from willow branches and primarily danced by the men, this dance has since evolved and changed to what it is today. The intent and purpose remains the same: a medicine to lift the spirits of the people by honouring creation, through this storytelling dance.

Rhonda Doxtator is from the Oneida nation of Southern Ontario. Her name is Kawisaha, which means "She is Carrying Ice" and is from the turtle clan. Rhonda has been a pow wow dancer for 30 years. Her passion lies within the cultural arts of dancing, singing and regalia making.

Flavours of the World is a time to gather and enjoy delicious food from around the world!
You are welcome to wear traditional attire that represents your culture or country.
